Frequently Asked Questions About Via Licensing

- 1 Who is Via Licensing?
- 2 What does Via Licensing do?
- 3 What do I do to submit a patent to join a joint licensing program?
- 4 How do I obtain a license from a joint licensing program that is offering licenses?
- 5 How can I get a list of the patents available in a particular program?
- 6 What about patents that aren't on the list?
- 7 Why do new programs have few patents listed in the license agreement?
- 8 Does it cost me any more as a licensee if new Essential Patents or new licensors are added to the program?
- 9 Do companies that are licensors get a special deal that the rest of us don't get?
- 10 I'm special because (fill in the blank), can I get a special deal on license rates?

No. The licenses available under the program are intended to be offered to the entire market on Reasonable And Non-Discriminatory (RAND) terms. As such, the license fees and other similar terms are consistent amongst licensees. However, if there is something about the sample license that is impossible for you to comply with, Via Licensing would be happy to discuss the matter with you further.
